

Boise State University Online Facts & Figures for Fall 2019

There are 3,222 total students in Boise State's online programs, and 1,211 of them are Idaho residents, while 2,011 are from out of state.

Boise State offers both graduate and undergraduate programs, and of the 3,222 total online students, 1,311 are enrolled in graduate programs, while 1,911 students are enrolled in undergraduate programs.

Boise State offers 47 online programs. Seventeen are graduate-level, eight are undergraduate-level, and there are twenty-two certificates. They fall into eleven general areas of study including: Applied Science, Business, Educational Technology, Genetic Counseling, Healthcare Simulation, Imaging Sciences, Innovation and Design, Multidisciplinary Studies, Nursing, Organizational Performance and Workplace Learning, Public Health, Public Relations, Respiratory Care, Social Work and Teaching.

In the fifteen areas of study, students can participate either at full- or part-time status. Student counts are as follows:

Applied Science: 30 full time, 91 part time

Business: 219 full time, 390 part time

Educational Technology: 11 full time, 278 part time

Genetic Counseling: 12 full time, 0 part time

Healthcare Simulation: 0 full time, 17 part time

Imaging Sciences: 18 full time, 71 part time

Innovation and Design: 89 full time, 121 part time

Multidisciplinary Studies: 95 full time, 223 part time

Nursing: 17 full time, 781 part time

Organizational Performance and Workplace Learning: 14 full time, 243 part time

Public Health: 38 full time, 18 part time

Public Relations: 7 full time, 7 part time

Respiratory Care: 19 full time, 298 part time

Social Work: 252 full time, 126 part time

Teaching: 30 full time, 71 part time

Please note: some students may be concurrently enrolled in multiple programs, and therefore may be counted more than once

There are 1,546 total unique full-time students, and 1,676 total unique part-time students.

For more information or information about Boise State's online programs, please contact us via our website at boisestate.edu/online or call us at 208-426-5921

All data in this infographic is based on Boise State's Fall 2018 Census Day Report.

Other information:

All of Boise State's online courses are offered at affordable per-credit rates, and financial aid is available.

All the online programs offer students personal support via phone and e-mail from application through graduation.

Boise State's online programs offer the same quality education experienced by on-campus students, and no "online" designation appears on your diploma.

Boise State faculty work with a team of instructional designers to create interactive courses, giving you the tools to build an online community with fellow students.

Many programs offer full-time and part-time options, giving you the flexibility to choose the schedule that best fits your busy life.